

History Taking

KEY POINTS

- A low vision history should address rehabilitation as well as optical concerns.
- A low vision exam and history should not be attempted until the patient has reached a level of acceptance of his or her visual loss.
- A well-informed patient experiences more success with low vision aids.
- Teacher input should be solicited to determine the visual needs of school-aged patients.